B 次の各問に答えよ。

1. 高校生の Yuka は夏休みにカナダでホームステイをしています。日本に帰国する前の週末に、ホストシスターの Sophia と街の中心部にある Main Street に買い物にやってきました。以下の二人の対話を読んで、各問に答えなさい。

Sophia: Do you have any places you want to go?

Yuka: Actually, I need to buy some souvenirs for my family and friends. Can you help me?

Sophia: Of course! Let's start with your dad. What do you have in mind?

Yuka: For my dad, I was thinking of some clothes, like a T-shirt. Do you think that's a good idea?

Sophia: That's a great idea! Can you see the beaver logo just ahead on the left? That's a shop with famous Canadian sports brand clothes. You can find a nice T-shirt there. It's really popular, and your dad will love it!

Yuka: Perfect! What about my mom?

Sophia: Well, there's a high-quality tea shop right across from the sportswear shop. You can find some maple-flavored tea there. Does she drink tea?

Yuka: Not really. She prefers coffee.

Sophia: Hmm... Then, how about accessories? There's a great little shop at the end of the street. It's run by local artists, and they sell handmade jewelry and accessories. You'll find something unique there that your mother will love!

Yuka: That sounds perfect! Now, about my friends... I was thinking of getting some sweets, like maple cookies. Can we go to the big tourist shop next to the shopping mall?

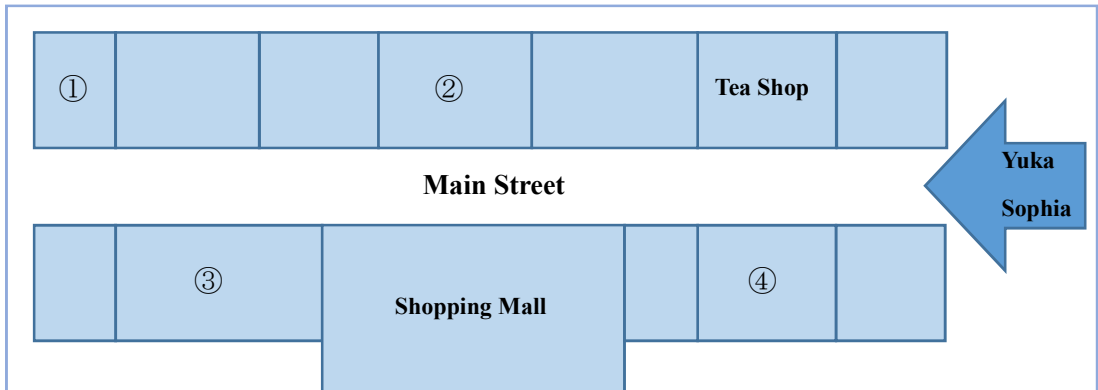

Sophia: Well, I'd recommend not going to the tourist shop. You can buy maple cookies of the same quality at much lower prices at the supermarket near our house.

Yuka: I see. Thanks for your advice. I'm glad we came here together.

Sophia: No problem! Let's get everything you need, then we can have some ice cream at the shop across from the shopping mall!

Yuka: Okay!

- イ. Sophia recommended a high-quality tea shop because Yuka's mother likes tea.
- ウ. Sophia recommended an accessory shop because Yuka could find something unique made by local artists.
- エ. Yuka changed the place to buy cookies based on Sophia's advice.
- オ. Yuka and Sophia will have some ice cream before they start shopping.

2. Yuka はホームステイを終えて日本に帰国してから、カナダにいる Sophia にメールを送りました。以下のメールを読んで、各問に答えなさい。

From: Yuka Ishikawa <yishi123@kmail.com>

To: Sophia Brown <sbrown45@kol.com>

Date: August 30

Subject: I'm back in Japan!

Dear Sophia,

Hi, I got back to Japan the day before yesterday! Thank you so much for everything in Canada. I had such a great time, and your help made it even more special.

Thanks again for helping me pick out souvenirs! Everyone really liked the gifts.

My mom especially loved the bracelet! She was so happy with it that she is thinking of contacting the artist to see if she can sell it in her imported goods shop!

Also, my friends really enjoyed the maple cookies. So I'm planning to make maple-flavored ice cream with nuts, or perhaps matcha ice cream with maple cookies, for the cooking club booth at the school festival. (A) What do you think? I'd love to hear your ideas!

I'm looking forward to seeing you again. Thanks for everything!

Your friend,

Yuka

C 次の対話の文章を読んで、あとの各問に答えよ。

Kenta, a high school student, and his younger sister Nanami, also a high school student, are at the dinner table with their mother.

Kenta: (excitedly) Mom, guess what? I went to Kamakura today on our school trip, and there were so many tourists from other countries!

Mom: Oh, really? That's great, Kenta. Kamakura is a wonderful place to visit.

Kenta: But (A) I've never seen so many tourists before, especially from overseas.

Mom: We're getting more and more foreign tourists. It's quite different now compared to when I used to travel.

Nanami: Mom, where did you go when you traveled?

Mom: Oh, I visited many countries before you both were born. Places like Europe, Southeast Asia, and even Australia.

Kenta: Wow, that sounds amazing! How was it traveling to so many places?

Mom: It was wonderful. Back then, the yen was strong, so traveling abroad was cheaper for us than it is now. I could experience different cultures and see famous places without B.

Nanami: What has changed since then?

Mom: Well, over time, it has become more expensive for Japanese people to travel abroad because the yen isn't as strong as it used to be. But for foreigners visiting Japan, it's now cheaper. That's why we're seeing more foreign tourists.

Kenta: Why is Japan so popular with foreign tourists?

Mom: There are a few reasons. Japan is interesting to foreigners because it's different! Japan has a unique culture, delicious food, and advanced technology, which attract tourists from all over the world.

Nanami: (C) That makes sense. I remember hearing that tourists enjoy traditional things like tea ceremonies and wearing kimono.

Mom: Exactly. Tourists also find Japan safe and clean. It makes Japan a popular place for families and travelers.

Kenta: Are there any other reasons?

Mom: Yes, the Japanese government has also made it easier for tourists to visit by making it simpler to get visas for some countries. They have improved transportation and made more places to stay.

Nanami: That's interesting. I didn't know the government did so much to encourage tourism.

Mom: It's part of (D) Japan's effort to make more money through tourism and to share our culture with the world.

Kenta: Thanks, Mom. Now, I understand why so many tourists are coming to Japan.

Nanami: Yeah, it's cool to learn how things have changed over the years.

Mom: You're welcome! I'm glad you're interested in learning about these things. Who knows, maybe someday you'll travel to other countries and see new things, just like I did.

Kenta
and Nanami: (smiling) Maybe!

D 次の英文を読み、以下の設問に答えなさい。

The Pacific Crest *Trail (PCT) is one of the most famous long-distance hiking trails in the world. It starts in California at the border with Mexico. The trail goes north through California, Oregon, and Washington, and ends at the border with Canada. The trail crosses many national parks, forests, and mountains, including the *Sierra Nevadas and the *Cascades. Some sections are high in the mountains, while others go through dry deserts or thick forests. Hikers can see many types of plants and animals, making it a great place for nature lovers.

The Pacific Crest Trail is very long, about 4,265 kilometers in total. Because it is so long, it takes a lot of time and effort to walk the entire trail. The PCT crosses different climates, so hikers need to be prepared for both hot desert sun and cold mountain weather.

Walking the whole Pacific Crest Trail usually takes about five to six months. It is not something that most people can do quickly. Hikers need to plan carefully and prepare for difficult weather conditions, long distances, and sometimes rough land. Many hikers start their journey in April or May and try to finish before the cold weather comes in October.

While some people take many years to complete the trail by hiking small sections at a time, others walk the whole trail without stopping, called a (A)"thru-hike." For many hikers, completing the PCT is a big challenge and a life-changing experience.

There are many famous hikers who have completed the Pacific Crest Trail. One of the most famous is (B)Cheryl Strayed, who hiked the trail in the 1990s. She wrote a popular book about her journey called Wild. The book was also made into a movie. Cheryl's story inspired many people to try hiking the trail and to enjoy the beauty of nature.

Another famous hiker is (C)Scott Williamson, who is known for setting the record for the fastest time to hike the trail. He hiked the PCT in just 64 days, which is *incredibly fast!

The Pacific Crest Trail is not just a long hike; it's an adventure through some of the most beautiful places of the United States. Hikers experience different environments, including desert *landscapes, mountain peaks, and cool forests. Along the way, they can see amazing wildlife, like bears, deer, and birds. (D)The PCT also allows hikers to challenge themselves and test their limits. Many hikers say that walking the PCT is one of the best experiences of their lives because it gives them a chance to connect with nature and themselves.

In conclusion, the Pacific Crest Trail is a long and beautiful trail that offers an exciting adventure for those who love nature and hiking. Whether you want to hike the whole trail or just a small part, the PCT is a special place that is sure to make lasting memories for anyone who steps on it.
